SYNTHESIS OF POLYMERIZATION

BY
J. H. HARRIS
AND
R. H. HARRIS

DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY, UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

1960

ABSTRACT
The synthesis of a polymerization product is described. The reaction involves the use of a catalyst system consisting of a metal complex and a ligand. The product is characterized by its molecular weight and its physical properties.

INTRODUCTION
This report describes the synthesis of a polymerization product. The reaction is carried out in a solvent at a specific temperature and pressure.

EXPERIMENTAL
The reaction was carried out in a 100 ml. round-bottomed flask equipped with a magnetic stirrer and a nitrogen inlet.

RESULTS
The product was obtained in a yield of approximately 80%. The molecular weight of the product was determined to be in the range of 10,000 to 20,000.

DISCUSSION
The results of this study indicate that the reaction proceeds via a coordination mechanism. The product is a high molecular weight polymer.

CONCLUSION
The synthesis of the polymerization product has been successfully completed. The product is a high molecular weight polymer with the desired physical properties.
